

Version 0.5 Reframe Cards

Keep these where you work. The reframe routes shipping through what already energizes you: understanding.

The instrument

A draft is an instrument for collecting data you cannot get any other way.

The economics

Feedback on a rough version is cheaper than polish on the wrong version.

The visibility rule

Shipped and imperfect beats complete and invisible. Invisible work teaches nothing.

Contact with reality

The system improves through contact with reality, not through further contemplation of it.

The label

Calling it v0.5 tells every reader the precision standard it should be held to. The label is armor.

The question

Attach one specific question to every early release. A draft with a hypothesis is an experiment, not an exposure.