

WIP Inventory & Parking Lot

Count like an auditor. Cap at three. A new thread requires a finished one or a formally parked one.

EVERY OPEN THREAD, HONESTLY

The number is usually a surprise. Splitting projects into sub-threads to dodge the cap is a known failure mode.

THE THREE

Chosen by receiver value, not interestingness. Whose waiting is most expensive?

THE PARKING LOT

Everything else, each with a one-line written state so it can be resumed or retired. A park with no state is a dropped thread with better branding.

MONTHLY REVIEW

Each parked item either gets a slot or gets retired on purpose. Date of next review:
