

Problem Reframe Deck

Draw five cards before committing serious effort. Answer in writing, one or two lines each. The card you want to skip is the one holding a finding.

The owner

Whose problem is this really, and would they describe it this way?

The dissolve

What would make this problem irrelevant instead of solved?

The layer beneath

What is the problem behind the problem?

The forbidden fix

If the obvious fix were forbidden, what would we do instead?

The competence trap

Are we solving this because it matters, or because we know how?

The skeptic

What would a skeptic say we are actually optimizing for?

The restatement

After the cards: the problem, restated or confirmed, in one sentence. Now execute, aimed.
